THE FIGHT FOR THE EXTRA ELECTION OFFICER BEFORE A REFEREE.

Stenry George and Chairman McMackin Describe the Formation of the United Labor Party—Their Claim Contested by the Progressives—Doubt if a Decision will be Reached Before Election Day.

Did the United Labor party cast the votes for Henry George, or 50,000 of them, last fall? Or Did the Progressive Labor party cast them? Or was Irving Hall the party which carried Henry George to vic-Does the name "United Labor" now ed by the supporters of Henry George pass to them by inheritance and along with it the right to be represented in each of the 812 boards of inspectors of election in this

These were points on which Francis L. Stetson heard testimony at his William street office to-day, by order of Judge Van Brunt, and on which he is to report to the General Term forthwith.

There were seen in the office of Referee Stetson this morning Henry George, William T. Croasdale, James P. Archibald, Treasurer of the United Labor Campaign Committee; John McMackin, Chairman of the County Committee, A.A. Levey and Abner C. Thomas.

These were the forces of United Labor.

The Progressive Labor party was represented by Thaddeus B. Wakeman, candidate for Attorney-General; Ludwig Jablonowski, George G. Block and Hugo Vogt.

E. Ellery Anderson and Assistant Corporation Counsel Thomas P. Wickes stood as counsel for Commissioners Voorhis and Porter.

counsel for Commissioners Voorhis and Porter.

Edward M. Shepard, counsel for the United Labor party, submitted the affidavit made by John McMackin in the first proceedings before Judge Patterson as the document on which the whole proceedings rested.

This was considered as an opening of the proceedings, and Mr. Wakeman arose to object to Stenographer E. S. Dickinson, as having been engaged by Mr. Shepard. Therefore Mr. Dickinson who is a Brooklynite and with whom Mr. Shepard disclaimed any connection, was retired and George C. Appell, who was, as stenographer for Jacob Sharp, an ever-present accompaniment to the boodle prosecutions and every proceeding connected therewith, was substituted.

Mr. Anderson proceeded to read a statement at length of his position as counsel for an entirely disinterested party, whereat Mr. Shepard objected that time was very precious. But Mr. Anderson continued to a conclusion and then withdrew to await, as he said, the action of the courts.

Henry George was the first witness.

Mr. shepard—la the United Labor party as now constituted composed of the same Assembly District ovganizations that composed a party of the same hance last fail?

Mr. Wakeman—I object on the ground that—
Mr. Shepard—Mr. Referee, I think it is not fair for Mr. Wakeman to delay this matter by frivolous objectious. Of course, he can talk away the time so that the final determination of the controversy will be so fate that its effect will be lost to the United Labor party.

Iteferee "tetson—Mr. Wakeman, I am directed, to make an immediate report to the Gen-ral Term and this cass must be decided as specifly as possible.

Mr. Wakeman—I object to your statement that this matter is to be decided at any specified time. This matter is to take the usual course of suits in the courts.

After a little more talk, in which Mr. Wakeman protested that he wished a fair trial only, the examination went on. Mr. George said the United Labor party which named him at Syracuse was made up partly of the same party which ran him for Mayor last fall, and was the same party locally. They polled 68,110 votes last fall.

Under cross-examination by Mr. Wakeman, Mr. George produced a copy of his letter of last fall to the Central Labor Union's committee, in which he said that he would run for Mayor at the written request of 30,000 voters.

Mr. Wakeman-Were not all the proceedings of hat committee for the purposes of that campaign simply?

Mr. George—I think not. I think our ideas extended farther than that.

Mr. Wakeman—Was there any idea of forming a political party, and who had it?

Mr. George—I had it, and so did others. We reported over and over again that we had come to stay. The Printer's Legion and other organizations had charge o' the work of engaging men to man the polls on election day.

John McMackin testified that the Claren-ion Hall conference of September, 1886, was John McMackin testified that the Clarendon Hall conference of September, 1886, was called by the Central Labor Union, which was their composed of five delegates from each trade and labor organization. This conference formed distinct organizations, which still exist, except in the Sixth, Eighth, Tenth, Twelfth, Fourteenth and Twenty-fourth districts, where the organizations split off the Progressives.

Under cross-examination Mr. McMackin said the first use of the title "United Labor Party" was by the George County General Committee in April, 1887, in its call for a county convention, to which each George assembly district organization was invited to send one delegate for each 200 votes cast for George last fall in the district.

The cross-examination was long drawn out by Mr. Wakeman, who was frequently interrupted by the protestations of Mr. Shepard, who declared it to be the design of his opponents to waste time. Mr. Wakeman succeeded fairly well in his effort to identify the George party of last fall with the Central Labor Union, and in showing that the United Labor party as a name was only a little older than the Progressive Labor party, and that the latter was originally a part of the organization or agglomeration that nominated Henry George for Mayor.

UNITED LABOR MEN CONFIDENT.

Candidates Who Believe that They will Defeat Both Old Parties. The leaders and the rank and file of the United Labor party are to-day more earnest in their expectation of success on election day than they have been at any time since the campaign opened. And that their hopeful expressions are not mere buncombe any one can readily ascertain by visiting the headquarters of the Campaign Committee at 918 Broadway or attending any of the big mass-meetings which Henry George, Dr. Mc-Glynn, Louis F. Post and other prominent men in the party nightly address.

Henry George continues to work vigorously, and his strength holds out wonderfully well, considering the fact that he addresses half a dozen meetings a night in different parts of the city. To-night he will speak as follows:

First Assembly District-Franklin and Varick

treets.

Becond—Paradise Park.
Third—Webster Hall, in East Eleventh street.
Fourth—Rutgers Square.
Bixth—No. 413 Grand street.
Fifteenth—Tenth avenue and Thirty-fourth street.

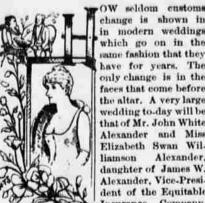

Pricents—Tents avenue and Thirty-fourthstreet.
Dr. McGlynn is also tireless in his efforts to boom the party. He arrived from Dunkirk to-day, and will be on hand to-night at meetings in the Fifteenth District, at Tenth avenue and Thirty-fourth street, at Sulzer's Music Hall in the Twenty-third District; at Dubert's Hall, at One Hundred and Twenty-sacond street and Eighth avenue, in the Nineteenth: at One Hundred and Forty-eighth street; and Third avenue, in the Twenty-fourth District, and at Brevoort Hall, in Fifty-fourth street, between Third and Lexington syemnes.

Mayor Hewitt on Nicell.

[From the New York Herald, Vot. 5.] 'My opinion of Mr. Nicoll," said Mayor Hewitt, yesterday, " is that he is ONE OF THE BRIGHTEST AND ABLEST YOUNG MEN IN NEW YORK, HE IS A MAN OF VERY GREAT PROMISE, AND WOULD MAKE AN EXCEL-LENT DISTRICT-ATTORNEY."

That is what Mayor Hewitt thinks of the man upon whose punishment the worst gang of corruptionists and rascals New York has ever known have set their hearts.

A TAME DAY IN THE STREET.

The Bulls Waiting to See What the Cammack Crowd Will Do.

It has been a quiet day in the street. The bulls have been very restive, awaiting the next move of the Cammack-Bateman party. The shorts have had a sorry time of it in some of the less active stocks like Manitoba, Rock Island. Oregon Navigation. When they start in to cover these shares take a big jump. Manitoba has crossed 109 and still the short interest is not entirely liquidated. Oregon Navigation bounded up nearly 6 points this morning, and the rise brought out only a few hundred shares. Mr. Cable estimates the uncovered shorts in Rock Island at 10,000 shares, and predicts a lively time later on. All the new stock issued by the company at par has been taken up by the shareholders, a majority of whom are people of large means. Another stock in which punishment is being meted out to the bears is Delaware and Hudson. It has moved up steadily without excitement and on very limited offerings.

Work, Strong & Co., were buyers of the East Tennessee securities to-day, presumably for the Thomas-Brice interests.

It was rumored that the directors of the Del. & Hudson will increase the next dividend to 1½ per cent.

to 133 per cent.

IS MELVILLE MORONEY?

Been Received at the Latter's House. London despatches state that the Scotland Yard detectives have discovered that Melville, the alleged dynamiter and the London agent of the Clan-na-Gael Society, is identical with John J. Moroney, of New York. The police further say that Melville or Moroney has been in constant communication with Mr. Joseph Nolan, Irish Member of Parliament, and has been seen in Paris with Hawkins and Gen. Millen, the head of the Clan.na-Gael. They say that after the jubilee Melville went to Boston, where he stayed at Young's Hotel, registering as John J. Moroney, New York. He likewise visited the Kennedys at 53 Charles street, Boston.

An Evening World reporter called at 925 Tenth avenue this morning. It is a comfortable five-story apartment-house of modern construction, accommodating eight families and with two stores on the ground floor.

The name John J. Moroney appears over the third floor letter-box. Mr. Moroney was not at home. His wife, Mary Moroney, said he was rarely at home, and she could not tell when he would be back. She received a letter from him this morning dated at Philadelphia at 6 o'clock last evening. She showed the envelope to the reporter.

"I don't know what name he goes under; I suppose it's no harm if he does."

"Has he been to England lately?"

"Very likely he has. He is away for weeks at a time and he does not always tell me where he goes. He has lived in England sometimes for months together.

"Is he a member of the Clan-na-Gael?"

"I don't know for sure. He is a member of some Irish society. They have meetings here very often. The meetings are held both in the evening and in the daytime."

Mrs. Moroney said letters sometimes came to her house addressed to "Mr. Melville, care of J. Moroney." She said her husband was formerly drummer for a dry-goods house, but now he did nothing but "travel around on private business."

There it is proposed to unscrew the nuts from the wheels and to leave the trucks, carts and wagons for the city officials to do with them as they see fit. Those who advocate this plan reason that the embargo on the transportation of goods and baggage which would ensue would cause a how from the public which would bring about a repeal of the ordinance.
